

What a great term we have had in 5A. In English, we have had a great time researching and writing about the Great Wars. It has been a pleasure to see and hear about how all the class have really enjoyed learning about this topic. I have been blown away by all the extra research that everyone has done as well. The Duxford trip was a great day out and gave the class a good foundation to write their blitz diaries.

In Maths, we have covered place value, addition and subtraction and multiples. The children have done well with these and are ready to move on to the next units in the Spring term.

In Science, we have looked at the properties of different materials. We made our own lemonade, found out about the fire triangle, and looked at how to separate different materials from liquids using filters and evaporation. I think that the lemonade not to everyone's taste, but we had fun making it.

It has been a brilliant first term and I am looking forward to the Spring! Have a very Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year!
